BEAVERS WATCHING ECOTOURISM AT VALLE HERMOSO

24.5 km from the city center.
WhatsApp: 2901-602313 / 2901-611574
vallehermosoush@gmail.com

The experience includes an interpretive walk along an easy trail until the beavers dams. Afterward, you return to the cabin, where a snack or dinner awaits—with the menu selected in advance. Available with or without transportation.

CANOEING, KAYAKING, PADDLING

Navigating in canoes, kayaks, or Zodiacs offers a unique and exciting way to enjoy nature. You can choose from short excursions through the National Park and the Beagle Channel or full-day combined tours—featuring hikes and lunch—for those seeking more adventure.

One of the most popular options is a combined trekking and canoeing excursion in Tierra del Fuego National Park. After a roughly three-hour hike along a coastal trail, the tour reaches Lake Acigami (also known as Lake Roca), where the inflatable canoe journey begins along the Lapataia and Ovando Rivers. This leg of the trip takes about an hour and a half and concludes at Lapataia Bay.

Another canoeing route, which takes a full day, starts near Estancia Harberton on the eastern coast of the Beagle Channel. From there, the route follows the Guaraní Passage to Gable Island, where participants can go ashore to explore. During this excursion, passengers can also visit nearby Martillo Island to observe a colony of Magellanic penguins.

Finally, canoeing is available on Lake Escondido as part of a combined off-road excursion that traverses old logging trails and runs along the shores of Lake Fagnano.

Those wishing to kayak can join group tours or book a personalized service with a guide. One itinerary departs from Golondrina Bay, passes through Cucharita Bay, and ends at Cauquenes Bay.

Another route takes place within Ushuaia Bay, starting at the AFASyN Club and continuing with coastal navigation toward the vicinity of Casco Island. Depending on the tour, the route takes in sights such as the Saint Christopher shipwreck and Bird Island, before returning to the starting point along the same path. This itinerary is also available during the winter.

It is worth noting that this activity is subject to weather conditions; therefore, it is always advisable to check availability with your chosen tour operator.
